STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The State Fair trustees were debating the question of music at their meeting, Friday. A number of bands throughout the State will come to State Fair for their dinners and transportation and play during the day. Representatives of the Lewiston Brigade Band were in attendance on the trustees, Friday, with a view to making a contract for the music.

Aroostook.

One day, recently, Amos Thibodeau, of Caribou, was attacked by an infuriated bull. His daughter ran to his rescue and succeeded in warding off the thrusts of the animal's horns from her father until help arrived. Mr. Thibodeau was severely injured.

The required amount of stock subscriptions to the Presque Isle National Bank has been made up. There will be a meeting of the stockholders on Tuesday, to choose a Board of Directors and other officers. The Bank will be opened as soon as possible after the organization is effected.

Work was begun on Tuesday last, on the improvements to be made in connection with the railroad buildings at Presque Isle. The round house and present depot buildings will be moved back, the yard graded down and leveled, and a new and more commodious passenger depot placed upon the site of the present one.

Mr. Charles Washburn, of Lewiston, a graduate of Bates College and a very successful teacher, is engaged to take charge of the High School at Fort Fairfield. There is now a prospect of a large attendance. Many of the teachers will improve this opportunity, rather than spend their time and money in attending schools in other parts of the State. The fall term will begin Sept. 5th.

Cumberland.

The ell of the residence of Mr. S. A. True, of Portland, was flooded, Thursday, by a break in the cistern, and the water stood an inch and a half deep on the dining room floor, beside wetting two chambers, a bath room and kitchen. The family were at Squirrel Island, and the break was discovered by the family next door.

The body of a young Swede girl named Christina Jacobson, who died under suspicious circumstances indicating poison, last Tuesday, at Portland, was exhumed Thursday, and the stomach sent to Prof. Robinson, at Bowdoin College, for analysis. The girl was twenty years of age, and had been in this country only six weeks.

The new lodging house at Poland Camp Ground is nearly completed. It will contain twenty sleeping rooms which will be furnished. The boarding house, to be kept by Mr. Emmons, will be opened shortly. Some of Mr. Emmons' friends are making up a party to dine with him some day before the meetings open.

The postoffice name of Ferry Village has been changed to South Portland. The change was recently suggested by the Cape Elizabeth Sentinel, and the people within the delivery of the office caught up the thing, and as a result the postmaster-general was petitioned, asking the change, which the post office department has seen fit to grant. Last Wednesday, Mr. A. E. Thurrell, postmaster at Ferry Village, was not filled of his appointment as postmaster at South Portland.

A malady has broken out among the horses in the farming section of Cape Elizabeth, which resembles in its effect the epizootic that swept off so many horses through the country some dozen years ago. At present, Messrs. Gilman Hannaford, J. Scott Jordan, Stephen Scammon, Samuel Bishop and many others have horses more or less dangerously sick.

A short time ago, Mr. Thomas was walking in his pasture in Westbrook, when he found a roll of birch-bark, and thinking it might interest some visitors at his house, carried it home. On examining it, some writing was found, stating that the writer had no home or friends, and prayed for death, and that his body would be found in a brook running near them. It was signed James Fields, Kennebec county, and dated May 16. It is not known whether it is a case of suicide or a "put up job." If it was suicide the high waters have carried the body to the river, and from thence to some place from which, very likely, it will never be recovered.

Kennebec.

Mayor Macomber has contracted for a fountain to ornament Monumental Square, Augusta, twelve feet in height and as many in diameter. It is imitation bronze and similar to that in the Revere House, Boston. It is expected that it will be in operation by September 1.

H. N. Webber, brother of Frank L. Webber, of Augusta, has been appointed General Master Mechanic of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company who operate 760 miles of railroad and the largest number of river steamboats and ocean steamships of any one company in the United States. Mr. Webber was formerly an engineer on the Maine Central.

Twenty-eight loads of grain have been housed at the Insane Hospital this year, and there are five more to go in. The barns are stuffed with hay and grain as never before, and the growing crops are looking finely. Farm superintendent Cony has been doing excellent work and has managed very successfully. The walls of the east end of the kitchen addition are up.

Speaking of large pension arrearages received, a well known Augusta pension attorney says the story about an ex-soldier receiving $12,000 is all bosh. It is an impossibility under the act passed by Congress for one man to receive so much. The largest amount of arrearages which he ever knew one veteran to receive, was granted to an inmate of the Soldiers' National Home, Togus, about a year ago and amounted to $5,000.

Wednesday afternoon, L. J. Cote undertook to cross the railroad track at the head of the falls just before the time for Jewett's train to arrive. The team stuck on the track. Before he could clear the track, Mr. Cote saw the train approaching from the depot, and, realizing the danger to trail people, he left his team and ran up the track, swinging his hat and coat. The signal was seen, the engine stopped, the obstruction was removed, the train started on its way again, and a severe accident was prevented by Mr. Cote's coolness, says the Waterville Mail.

A petition has been received at the Secretary of State's office for the pardon of E. E. Reed and Joseph A. Beaupre, of Lynn, Mass., who hired a team of C. W. Dunning, Bath, and shipped it to Boston on the boat with the intention of selling it. The petition is headed by Mayor Geo. D. Hart, of Lynn, and numerously signed by prominent citizens of that place. The name of Mr. Dunning is also on the paper.

The men were sentenced for two years and they have been in prison about ten months. The case will be heard at the next meeting of the council.

Oxford.

Woolf & Reesing are putting their corn packing machinery, at Bethel, in order and expect to begin the 25th inst. The prospect is flattering for a good yield of sweet corn.

The annual re-union of the Seventeenth Maine Regiment Association, will be held at Oxford, on Thursday next, the 18th inst., by invitation of members and friends living in that vicinity. An active committee has been organized at Oxford and extensive preparations are being made for the reception and entertainment of the veterans. The tattered battle flags of the "Old 17th" will be carried upon that occasion by former color bearers of the regiment. Several designs for a monument to be erected at Gettysburg upon the "historic wheat field" where the 17th did such gallant service, will be submitted and a selection made.

Somerset.

Jewett Foster, of Skowhegan, has sued the town of Pittsfield for $4,000 damages, said to have been sustained by his family in being thrown from a carriage on the night of June 23d, near J. C. Connor's residence. The town will contest the case vigorously.

York.

A son of William Waterhouse, who was killed by a railway train, at Hollis Centre, Tuesday, was in Biddeford, Friday forenoon. He said that his mother, who was with her husband when the train struck the team and was seriously injured, showed signs of improvement and it was thought she might recover. She has not regained her senses, however, and does not know that her husband was killed or that there was a funeral at the house Thursday. She is in a very precarious condition, and the attending physician does not care to break the terrible news of the accident to her, least the shock should prove too great and cause her death.

Short Cuts.

London's death rate increased about fifty per cent. the last six weeks.

Mrs. Scott Siddons, who returns to this country late in the fall, will give readings only.

Susanna M. Salter, Mayor of Argonia, Kansas, says she prefers her official duties to housekeeping. Her husband's views on the subject might be of some interest.

Fred. Douglass is back from Europe and reports that he was everywhere treated with great consideration, and his white wife received many tokens of regard and admiration.

Judge Wellborn, who was one of the Texas Congressmen in the last House, is now making $25,000 a year in the practice of law. He is attorney for the Atchison and Topeka road.

Mrs. Coleman Drayton is said to be the best-dressed woman in New York. She spends from $20,000 to $25,000 a year on her attire. This large expenditure is made with the greatest good taste.

Last Saturday night, Abraham Lincoln, of Washington, D. C., hit Martha Washington with a brick. They are both colored, and Martha is even discolored where the brick ended its hostile journey.

It is said that there are 64,349 convicts in the United States, or one to every nine hundred and thirty inhabitants. This estimate does not include those who have not yet been caught and locked up.

H. W. Slocum, son of Gen. Slocum, has just won the $100 tennis prize at Nahant. Mr. Slocum's play has been the surprising feature of this year's tennis season, and he seems to be the coming champion of the country.

Mrs. Craighead is the boldest woman in Andover, Mass. Being aroused by a burglar last Tuesday night, she drove the intruder from her house, secured a revolver and pursued him a block, lodging a bullet in his head.

The royal family of Portugal is quite capable of earning a living by handicraft in case of necessity, Queen Maria Pie being a skilful potter, King Dom Luis a sculptor of acknowledged merit and the Crown Prince Dom Carlos an amateur locksmith.

New York photograph peddlers say that Mrs. James Brown Potter is the present favorite, and next in order of sales come the portraits of Mrs. Langtry and Mary Anderson, then Ellen Terry, Lady Mandeville and the Marchioness of Lansdowne.

Cincinnati is to have a monument to the memory of President Harrison. Artists are now at work on the designs and a selection will soon be made. The statue will be unveiled in the fall of 1888, on the centennial anniversary of the city of Cincinnati.

Alderman William Ure, of Glasgow, a sporting gentleman, just arrived in New York, says most folks were willing to wager odds on the Thistle, but since reading the accounts of the Volunteer's achievements he expects "a very close and pretty contest."

Lieutenant Zalinski's dynamite gun, at Fort Lafayette, is now nearly ready for a practical test. The Secretary of the Navy has ordered a boat to be turned over to him, and in about three weeks he will try to blow it up from a distance of one and a half miles.

Harwood, the owner and rider of the steeple-chaser Wheatley, is the only "gentleman jockey" at Saratoga. He rides his own horse and often lands him a victor. Harwood is considered one of the best steeple-chase riders in the country when he is in good condition.

Lawrence and Harry, sons of the late Dr. Mark Hopkins, have bought the Sherman and Whitney farms, comprising two hundred acres and commanding some fine views, near Williamstown, Mass. It is said that the Sherman farm has been in the possession of that family for about a century.

Bowmanville, Ont., is said to be a paradise for women desirous of entering the estate of matrimony. During the past two years there have been no less than eleven reorganizations of the village church choir, all rendered requisite by female members taking unto themselves husbands.

Deliverance from the perils of the morphine habit is promised in the new narcotic, called antipyrine, recently discovered in Paris. It is injected hypodermically like morphine, but does not produce an unhealthy somnolence nor a dangerous exaltation of the nervous system, and it is curative as well as sedative.

Outside the walls of Jerusalem a new town has sprung up, a building club having been established a few years ago, under the operation of which 180 houses were erected in four years by the Jews, while along the Jaffa road many country villas have been erected of late by European residents as summer abodes. The latest development of the building of new houses without Jerusalem is to be found in the enterprise which has led to much building being done on the slopes of the Mount of Olives, the summit of which is crowned with the Church of the Ascension.

Joseph Tompson is to conduct an exploring party from the east coast of Africa to Lake Chad, which as yet has never been visited. A good deal of the country to be passed through will be familiar to Mr. Tompson, whose book "Through Masai Land," describes what will be the first part or his journey on this occasion.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe was on Wednesday presented with a dozen very heavy and beautifully chased solid silver spoons, enclosed in a Russia leather case, lined with blue satin, by the Roger Williams Lodge of the Sons of St. George, of New York. She made an address and read a poem before the lodge at its jubilee festival.

"Patsy, Ol've been insulted. Micky Doolan called me a liar," said an excited Irishman.

"An' phwat are yez goin' to do about it?"

"I don't know. Phwat would you do av ye wor me?"

"Well, Dinny, Oi think Oi'd tell the troot oftener."

A wealthy widow, of Yolo county, Cal., aged sixty-nine, becoming weary of her lonely condition, was about to wed the foreman of her ranch, a good-looking fellow, aged thirty, when the relatives, seeing her money about to slip through their fingers, obtained an injunction until her mental condition could be inquired into, and the Supreme Court is now wrestling with the question.

Golden trout are found in but one place in the world—that is in the brooks of Mt. Whitney, up near the banks of everlasting snow. They have a golden stripe down each side, and are the most beautiful fish that swim. Those who saw the first specimens of these trout that were brought down from the head of Whitney Creek, thought that they were made up for show—that stripes of gold leaf had been glued to their sides.

The Sons of the Revolution, an organization of descendants of the officers and soldiers of the revolutionary army, have opened a competition for models for a monument to the memory of Nathan Hale, the American volunteer who was hanged as a spy by the British in New York, during the revolution. The monument is to cost about $25,000, and is to be erected, with the consent of the city authorities, in Central Park, New York.

At Duxbury, Mass., there lives in a lonely old house a most interesting character. Capt. John Alden, an old man of seventy-four, is the only occupant. He is able to trace his descent through seven generations back to John Alden, who came over in the Mayflower. The house in which he lives was built in 1653. The Captain is a veteran of the civil war and draws a pension. He is very proud of his descent from John Alden and Priscilla.

Senator Dawes, of Massachusetts, who has just completed thirty years of service in the Congress of the United States, does not look like a man of seventy. He is in fine health, walks with a firm step, and his eyes are bright with vigor and intelligence. He generally dresses in black, wearing a soft black hat, black coat, white vest in summer and dark trousers. He has always been a hard student and a great worker, but has taken good care of his constitution.

More than one million pounds of tin foil are used annually to cover the smoking and chewing tobacco manufactured in the United States alone. The method of making it is interesting. The tin is, of course, first taken out of the mines, the best of which, for this purpose, are in Australia and the Dutch possessions of the East Indies. The metal is found in veins or fissures called lodes, though it is also found in a dispersed form in loose stones, which, when found continuously are called streams.

Oliver Johnson corrects a current paragraph which states that 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' was written at Mrs. Stowe's recently burned house at Andover, Mass. "'Uncle Tom's Cabin,'" he says, "was certainly not written at Andover, but at Brunswick, Maine, where the author's husband was at the time professor in Bowdoin College. My authority for this statement is a lady sitting before me as I write, to whom Mrs. Stowe herself read the major portion of the great novel while it was yet in manuscript. She was a resident of Brunswick down to the time when the work appeared in book form. Subsequently, when Mr. Stowe was called to a professorship at Andover, the family removed to that place and to the house just destroyed by fire."

Van Amburgh, the famous lion tamer, once told a group of people in a bar-room that he obtained his wonderful power over animals by showing them that he was not in the least afraid of them and by keeping his eye steadily on theirs. He continued: "I'll give you an example of the power of my eye." Pointing to a loutish fellow who was sitting opposite, Van Amburgh said, "You see that fellow? He's a regular clown. I'll make him come across the room to me, and I won't say a word to him." Sitting down, he fixed his keen, steady eye on the man. Presently the fellow straightened himself, gradually got up and came across to Van Amburgh. When he got close enough he drew back his arm and struck the tamer a tremendous blow under the chin, knocking him clear over the chair, with the remark: "You'll stare at me like that again won't you?"

Dr. A. C. Robinson, of St. Louis, thinks the American custom of going to European spas and sanitariums in search of health is reprehensible. There are more and better mineral springs in any one of the Western States than can be found in all of Germany. A few years ago a well-known grain operator, broken down in health, went to Carlsbad. He sought the advice of the most eminent physician at the cure, who, after a slight examination, asked the patient where he was from. "I live in St. Louis, Missouri," was the reply. "Ah, yes," said the old doctor, "you live then, but a short distance from the great Hot Springs of Arkansas, the grandest health resort in the world. I would advise you to go back at once to America and try the Hot Springs. Carlsbad is not for you." The patient came home, went down to Hot Springs for a month, and came back as good a man as when he was twenty-one years of age.

Travelling a Thousand Miles an Hour.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Colonel John H. Pierce, of Plainsville, Conn., said to a reporter that as yet little was known outside his room of his plan for connecting this continent with the Old World by means of pneumatic tubes. Some statement of a brief nature has been made to a local paper. Only within a day, almost, has it been developed to its present stage. In response to a request to give the facts the inventor was full of enthusiasm, but spoke with care and precision and with the air of a man who knew whereof he affirmed.

"Yes, I believe my plan is a practical one. This country can be connected with Europe by means of pneumatic tubes of large proportions. When the theories are reduced to practice they may be modified to some extent."

"How would they be laid and operated?"

"After the manner of the cables, as I will hereafter explain. We will be obliged to have them laid exactly straight, or as near straight as the surface of the globe will permit. They will be operated by currents of air, but on principles quite different in some respects from those governing the small lines now in use; the general principles remain the same. Of course the tubes will always be made in couples, with currents of air driven through them, the current in one tube always moving in an opposite direction from the other."

"Will it not be difficult to force currents of air the distance you contemplate?"

"Oh, no. The speed of this current can be made as great as desired, and with scarcely any limit, by simply using a great number of steam fans on the principle of those used in blast furnaces.

"The tubes must be large enough to admit of passengers, of course, yet small as possible. I would have individuals sit tandem, one ahead of the other, you see. Friction? That would be prevented by ball bearings—necessary appliances. The motion would hardly be perceptible to the passenger. It is hard to speculate upon the speed attainable. One hundred miles an hour would be the easiest thing in the world; 1,000 miles an hour is not impossible, with polished steel surface for tube lining, and exterior we could provide for. The speed, owing to the curvature of the earth's surface, will tend to overcome all weight and make the pressure greatest on the upper portion of the tube, when running at maximum speed. Think of going to London in such a way and in such time as that?"

Colonel Pierce said that it would not cost a very large sum to build an experimental line for a short distance, say a few miles. His plan has been submitted in its details to several experts, and has met with approval. The great question with the inventor at the present time is to get the necessary funds to carry forward the work, for he is a man of comparatively little capital. He feels confident that in the end he will receive the recognition and encouragement which his work deserves.

Whig and Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

TUESDAY. AUGUST 16, 1887.

Ex-Congressman George L. Converse, of Ohio, is said to be so dissatisfied with the free trade plank in the Democratic platform that he is preparing to come out a flat-footed Republican.

The official returns from one hundred and four of the one hundred and nine counties in Kentucky show that Buckner's majority over the combined vote of the opposition is 539. Think of that for Kentucky! No wonder it makes the Democracy feel sick whenever these figures are referred to.

There is but little news nowadays concerning the great scheme of General Rosecrans for turning the Grand Army into a machine to boom Mr. Cleveland's second term ambition. It looks somewhat as though Rosecrans were not as large a body as the Grand Army, his opinion to the contrary notwithstanding.

Despite all efforts to create a division in the ranks of the Iowa G. A. R., the Adjutant General of the department reports a net gain during the year of 1,646, making a total membership of 17,536 in the State. The men who touched elbows in the great conflict are not going to fall out of ranks or lose step at the command of outsiders.

In a private letter dated Bridge of Earne, Scotland, Aug. 2, received at Augusta, Saturday, Mr. Blaine says: "All news and rumors of my coming home or of my ill health is the invention of the correspondent of the Chicago News, who is following me everywhere. Never was better in my life; have not been ill a moment since I came to Europe. I am coaching daily and we are all in perfect health. I expect to sail for home June next."

The New York Evening Post is one of the fool friends of the President that cannot see the wisdom of the Boston Globe's suggestion that the Administration organs better drop the soldier question as one not likely to further Mr. Cleveland's political ambitions. The Post is still defending the veto of the Dependent Pension bill on the ground that "many of the old soldiers have grown so unpatriotic and venal that they are ready to make unjust demands." The Post will learn in 1888 that the soldier have had a day of reckoning. Keep it up.

The Farmers' Alliance of Floyd county, Indiana, look upon Mr. Cleveland's proposed trip as an electioneering tour and have adopted the following resolution which has been sent to Washington:

Resolved, That there is no promise, either expressed or implied, by which the people of the United States must pay their President $4000 per month, or any other sum, while electioneering for second term of office; therefore we call upon President Cleveland, before starting on his pending electioneering tour through the West and South, to first write out his resignation as President and file it with the proper officer at Washington.

Civil Service Commissioner Edgerton makes a new showing of his peculiar brand of malarial statesmanship by taking the position that the resignation of a Government employe must be recognized as a voluntary act on his part, no matter under what pressure or demand it was written, and that the Civil Service Commission has no right to investigate the circumstances under which it was procured. By analogy, says the Philadelphia Press, Judge Edgerton will also doubtless argue that in a case where a man has resigned his pocket-book to an armed highwayman the act must be recognized as a voluntary one, which the grand jury has no right to investigate.

After a long delay President Cleveland's Civil Service Commissioners have decided that Postmaster Harrity of Philadelphia, is entirely innocent of the charges preferred against him, and that the civil service rules have not been violated in his office. The real value of civil service reform as interpreted by the aforesaid Commissioners can be estimated from the fact that of one hundred and ninety-four appointees under Mr. Harrity one hundred and ninety-two were Democrats. This is the kind of business Mr. Cleveland selected Mr. Oberly for. He wanted someone who could whitewash just such cases, hence the promotion of Oberly from a position on a Democratic campaign committee to the Civil Service Commission.

Should Mr. Cleveland be renominated by the Democrats, as now seems probable, it will hardly do, in the light of the facts presented by Mr. Curtis, to parade him before the country as a civil service reformer. We do not well see how Mr. Curtis or any other honest believer in this reform could give him his support. He certainly deserves no support on this ground. The simple truth is that his Administration has been conducted mainly on the principle that "to the victors belong the spoils." His words before election and acts afterwards do not agree. The latter tell much better than the former what Mr. Cleveland really is on this subject. He is no better than the Democratic party; and if he pretends to be, in order to win Republican votes, the pretense is a mere sham.—Independent.

The mistake the Independent makes is in the supposition that Mr. Curtis and his followers are "honest" believers in reform. They are not honest and confess as much when they announce that they will continue to give Mr. Cleveland their support. The caustic remarks of the Independent, however, will cause the Mugwump contingent to squirm like an eel on a hook.

Democratic and Mugwump papers, with their usual contempt for accuracy of statement, says the Tribune, are asserting in a wild sort of way that the Rochester Labor Convention has been fostered by the Republicans. Of course there is not a shadow of ground for such an assertion. On the other hand, there is reason, and good reason too, for the belief that influential Democrats have been seeking to promote this movement with a view of injuring the United Labor Party, which they look upon as dangerous. Proof of this may be found in the presence at Rochester as delegates of employes from the Public Works Department and other Democratic office-holders, and of Carsey and others who are regular attaches of the Democratic State Committee. A reporter of the New York Times seems to have looked into the matter, and he winds up his report with this significant statement:

It was said that Police Justice Maurice Power had furnished the Union Labor party delegates with railroad tickets for Rochester and also with money for expenses.

Now, no one is likely to accuse Justice Power of being a Republican or of acting as a Republican agent. Our friends the enemy will evidently have to try again.

The "pauper labor" of England is found to get a really higher price than the protected labor of America. Our working classes will gradually awaken to the truth that the immense taxes of high tariffs fall ultimately on them and reduce their power of purchasing, and that high protection is no favor to them.—New York Times.

The persistency with which the free trade organs reiterate this falsehood is worthy of a better cause. It matters not to them that the laboring people have long since reached a point when they can no longer be deceived by such statements, they keep right on rehashing the same old exploded doctrine. In fact the desperation of their case is only rendered the more apparent by the course they pursue. Laboring men in this country understand full well that they are better paid, housed and clothed than their unfortunate brethren who are struggling to keep life in the body under a free trade policy, a fact amply illustrated in the recent elections. Even Democratic papers in the South admit that the Cleveland-Carlisle theory, which has the indorsement of the British organs of the New York Times type, came very near defeating Gen. Buckner in Kentucky. The laboring men of America have no use for such disastrous ideas.

The Value of a Record.

[Boston Traveller.]

It is a remark too trite to need defence or repetition, that the worth of all things is a matter of record. The speed of a horse, the strength of the ox, as well as the reputation and capacity of the clerk to be hired or the mechanic to be employed, find their market value in their record. Much has been said of the folly of the Republican party in relying upon its past history or record for present justification or support. In doing so it has proved itself both logical and wise. It had achieved the proudest political reputation ever yet made. Patriotism blazed from every act which came from its long exercise of power.

The unity of the nation, the supremacy of the flag as the invincible emblem of the republic, the public faith sacredly maintained, the constitutional currency restored to the people, and reconstruction accomplished without penalty to offenders or confiscation of property in rebellious sections, make a story of political honor and success unequalled by any body of men holding power at home or abroad. The career of this country cannot be told without reading the Republican record. And the record of the Democratic party is one long and unbroken opposition in its political teachings and actions to every national event and decision for which this country has a right to thank God. Democrats may have fought in the civil war, but Democratic platforms denounced it. Democrats may have approved of the reconstruction acts, but the party fought them. In dealing with the national creditor and in resumption of specie circulation the Democratic party was an obtrusive agency. It has held power for two years; it has been given a chance to redeem its record; no wise or beneficent public act has it performed. Out of power, with a record only despicable and evil; in power, helpless, imbecile and impotent, it goes into the next campaign with a bad record in the past and a poor one at present and it will be beaten.

Save the Hartford.

[Philadelphia Press.]

The recent rulings of Secretary Whitney that the Navy Department would only be fooling away money to attempt such repairs on such antiquated marine tubs as the Palos and Monocacy as would prolong their sea life for a few years have been held to apply to Farragut's glorious flagship the Hartford, and the suggestion has been made that she be patched up sufficiently to serve as a receiving ship at San Francisco. This is not fair to the old Admiral's memory or to the vessel which he carried through the fire storms of New Orleans, Port Hudson and Mobile. There isn't a timber in the Hartford from her main truck to her keel but what ought to be sacred. If the living veterans and the descendants of the dead preserve such feelings as saved the old frigate Constitution from destruction thirty years ago, they won't let the Hartford rot at moorings at Mare Island or anywhere else. They would no sooner see a thing of the sort happen than England would let the Victory tumble under the waves of Portsmouth Harbor and carry with her the last witness of Nelson and Trafalgar. The Hartford deserves better of the country.

Protection of the Family.

The primary object of life insurance is, to-day, as it was at the outset of its career, the protection of the family. It is a scheme which furnishes the means of providing for the support of needy dependents in the absence of other means or other device for such provision, and thus of discharging a domestic obligation and a social duty. With its active growth and development circumstances intervened to favor the adoption of endowments and annuities. In cases where there is no family circle or connection to be provided for, or where, as sometimes happens, the need of insurance ceases, prospective maintenance of the individual through an endowment fund payable in the later years of life is a legitimate object of present saving and self-denial. But the mainspring, the central idea is acquirement of an antidote to distress and destitution, avoidance of the evils attending descent from comfort to penury, preservation of the household, and rescue of its members from the humiliation of dependence on charity.—Baltimore Underwriter.

"THAT FIGURES DON'T LIE,"

is not true as to the tailor-made ones, it is said, and those on jewelry we know are sometimes "way off," as the phrase is. We warrant those on any of the various articles in our large stock though, to be truthful, and particularly reliable are those on SOLID GOLD JEWELRY we make to order, for the stock we alloy to be better a little than its carat figure, rather than a trifle poorer. We warrant perfect satisfaction to all who try our work.

BY TELEGRAPH.

MAINE NEWS.

A BOLD BURGLAR.

A Would-be Bank Robber and a Watchman Exchange Shots.

WATERVILLE, Aug. 15. An attempt was made last night to break into the People's National Bank. A circumstance occurred early in the evening, which, although not noticed particularly at the time, is doubtless connected with the attempted robbery. The electric lights refused to work at all. A break in the circuit has been found. The attempt was made at about two o'clock, Monday morning. At that time, Watchman Call, as he was passing up Main street, in front of the bank heard a noise in the rear. He passed around the corner of Temple street and up the alley way leading behind the stores. When he got near the rear of the bank he saw a man working at one of the back windows. Call stopped, and asked, "What are you doing there?" The man in answer turned and fired a revolver at him but failed to hit him. Call returned the fire. The burglar fired twice more and Call fired once more, but neither of the shots took effect. Call in the meantime had been shouting lustily for help; this fact together with the firing scared the burglar away. In the morning, it was found that the screen in the window had been raised and an opening made.

FIRES IN MAINE.

A $3,000 Blaze in Norridgewock.

NORRIDGEWOCK, Aug. 15. A barn [illegible] feet, belonging to Mr. Reynolds, and situated on the Cragin farm, Norridgewock, was totally destroyed by fire, together with about one hundred tons of hay, Sunday night. The fire caught from a kerosene lantern carried there by Mr. Edwin Tracy, who set it on the ground while he went upon a mow to get some straw. Soon after reaching the mow he looked back and saw the ground around the lantern covered with a blaze, and was unable to stay the fire till help could be had. The stable took fire, but it was put out with slight damage. The total loss is not far from $3,000, insurance $500 on the barn, $800 on 75 tons of hay belonging to Reynolds, and $200 on twenty tons belonging to James Tuttle.

Farm Buildings Burned.

BRADFORD, Aug. 15. The farm house of Alpheus Dyer at Dayton was burned yesterday afternoon. The family were away. The neighbours saved most of the furniture. The buildings were partially insured.

Fire at Ripley.

DEXTER, Aug. 15. Farm buildings of G. H. Chandler, of Ripley, burned this noon with 10 tons of hay in the barns. Loss $1,200, insured for $600.

Farm Buildings Burned in Phillips.

PHILLIPS, Aug. 15. The farm buildings of Hugh Stapes, were burned early this morning with partial contents. Insurance [illegible]. Caused by defective chimney.

FROM AUGUSTA.

A Strike Among the Weavers.

AUGUSTA, Aug. 15. Two hundred weavers in the Edwards Company's Mill struck to-day for higher pay. Dissatisfaction has been manifest for several weeks growing out of the ten hour law which reduced the pay of piece workers by shortening the time. The company state that the weavers that they were making more pay than any others of their kind in the [illegible] States and a committee of the weavers was sent out ten days ago to different parts of New England to gain information on the company paying the express.

In Massachusetts and Rhode Island they found 20 cents a cut was received being two cents more than the Augusta weavers were getting and they ask two cents advance. The company says that owing to the class of work on hand their weavers make the [illegible].

The committee learned that the Augusta weavers were making more than any weavers in Maine. The company say they will close the mill before they will accede to the demands of the strikers.

FROM ROCKLAND.

Arrival Gen. Berry Post.

ROCKLAND, Aug. 15. General Hiram G. Berry Post of Malden, Mass., arrived to-night at seven o'clock, coming to this city to pay their respects to the memory of General Berry for whom the post was named. They left Malden this morning at [illegible], took dinner at Bath, where they [illegible] arrived here all well and without accident. The Malden Post numbers [illegible] men and is accompanied by the Malden Cadet Band, twenty-one pieces, the whole party, including ladies, numbering one hundred persons. The visitors are a fine looking set of men. The officers are:

Commander, George H. Norcross;
Senior Vice-Commander, Porter J. Hume;
Adjutant, A. J. Willis;
Officer of Day, A. A. Adams;
Officer of Guard, Fred D. Howley.

A committee of Rockland's prominent citizens, postmaster Hurley, Doctor F. E. Hitchcock, General W. H. Titcomb, Judge [illegible] Hall and others met the visitors at Bath. They were welcomed to this city by Edwin Libby Post, two hundred men, and escorted through the principal streets, the stores, the Thorndike Hotel, Berry Bros. [illegible], the residences of Ex-Mayor Case, Colonel G. W. Ricker and others being decorated and illuminated. At the residence of Ex-Mayor Case, the old home of General Berry, the column halted and paid respects to the memoay of the gallant soldier. Malden post carried a letter-ed bearer presented to the Third Maine by the ladies of Augusta and carried through the war. Colonel M. B. Lakeman, of Malden Post, was commander of the Third Maine. This evening a camp fire occurred in G. A. R. Hall. To-morrow the veterans visit Crescent Beach for the day where a clam bake and concomitants will be served. In the evening there will be a grand reception and ball, in Farwell Hall, which has been elaborately decorated for the occasion. Wednesday the Post will visit the grave of Gen. Berry and drive about town, leaving at noon for Bangor. The visitors are quartered in St. Nicholas Hotel.

FROM BIDDEFORD.

BIDDEFORD, Aug. 15. Rev. Peter Libbey, advent preacher of Buxton Centre, well known throughout York county, fell down a flight of stairs yesterday, striking upon his head and killing him instantly. He was over ninety years old.

OUR BAR HARBOR MELANGE.

The Naval Squadron.

[Special Correspondence Whig and Courier.]

BAR HARBOR, Aug. 15. The spectacle of a very distinct aurora borealis in August was granted to dwellers here last night, while very distinct and of quite long duration, it did not attain the brilliancy that usually attends that phenomenon.

The Dolphin still keeps shifting her position, and lays now near to Sheep Porcupine. Admiral Luce visited the Atlantic and Dolphin about ten o'clock. Each vessel fired a salute of thirteen guns, which received an answering salute from the Richmond. To-morrow at 8.30 a. m. the fleet which has met for the purpose of exercising in squadron together, will send a naval brigade ashore fully equipped and go through all the manoeuvers. This exercise is preparatory to their landing in Philadelphia to take part in the Constitutional ratification centennial in September. This is the first time that the entire squadron has met as it is the first cruise of the Atlanta and Dolphin. The forces will be commanded by Commander William Bainbridge Hoff, commanding officer of the Ossipee, assisted by Lieut. Allen C. Dillingham, Adjutant-General. Each vessel will send off a Gatling and an 8-inch gun and there will be heavy music in the air. Between 1000 and 1500 men will participate in the drill. The squadron sails in about ten days for Newport.

Quite a number of yachts are here now. The Varuna, belonging to the New York and Sewanhaka Clubs, owned by Messrs. Reeves and Sturgis, of New York, the White Crest, also of New York, the Lodogo, of Baltimore, and the Lagonda, a very large steam yacht belonging to the New York, American and Atlantic Yacht Clubs, dropped anchor here yesterday, nearly all bound east. The Susquehanna, the finest steam yacht ever built on the coast, came in Saturday, but left for the east this morning.

AFLOAT AGAIN.

Schooner W. C. Norcross Proceeds to Rockport.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., August 15. Schooner W. C. Norcross has been floated by wreckers, without apparent damage, and proceeded.

OLD ORCHARD MEETINGS.

The Free Baptists.

SACO, Aug. 15. To-day at Ocean Park was devoted to the Laymen's Congress. The usual devotional exercises were held in the morning. In the afternoon B. C. Jordan, of Lewiston, read an interesting paper on "General Church Work, or the Relation of the Church to the Parish." The paper was followed by a discussion of the topic by Deacon Rufus Deering, Deacon Lewis, of Portland, Prof. Batchelder and ex-President Dunn of Hillsdale College, and Rev. George H. Ball, of New York. To-night J. C. Quordan, principal of Lewiston High School, read an able paper on the "Relations of the Church to Children," which was discussed by several speakers.

Portland District Methodists.

The Portland District Methodist camp-meeting began at Old Orchard camp ground to-night. A general service was held in the grove, with opening address by Presiding Elder W. S. Jones, of Portland. A large number of Methodists from this part of the State were present. The meetings will continue five days.

John Sherman, President of the United States Senate, and a majority of the United States senators, members of the United States Court and members of the Cabinet, a large number of members of the United States House of Representatives will also be here, as well as the Governors of nearly all the states. Besides the large number of regular troops which Gen. Between now and the date of the celebration this number will be increased from 5,000 to 7,000. The great industrial and civic display, under the charge of Col. Snowden, is well under way in all its arrangements, and promises to be, both in regard to numbers and to the unique character of the display, the most remarkable procession of the kind which has ever taken place in this city.

MRS. CLEVELAND'S RECEPTION.

Nearly One Thousand Present.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 15. Mrs. Cleveland's reception was held to-day from 4 to 5 p. m. At 4 o'clock many people were waiting, and carriages lined the roadway for quite a distance. The reception was marked by the very pleasant absence of formalities. It is estimated that nearly 1,000 were presented to Mrs. Cleveland. S. D. Hadley, of Marion, took the names of the visitors and repeated them to Gen. Greeley, who presented the callers. Mrs. Cleveland was assisted by Mrs. Folsom and Mrs. Greely in receiving, the three standing in the parlor which had been cleared of furniture.

Mrs. Cleveland was charmingly attired in pale blue surah, with draperies of spotted illusion lace. About her neck she wore a broad band of blue ribbon. She was ungloved and wore very little jewelry. One of the callers was a baby, which Mrs. Cleveland kissed. People from the surrounding towns formed quite a contingent. A dozen or more private carriages from Mattapoisett were well filled and half a dozen carriages went from this city, over a dozen miles away. The adjoining town of Wareham sent twenty or more carriages.

A SENSATIONAL STORY

Of the Sinking of An American Fisherman—The Report Lacks Confirmation.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 14. A gentleman who arrived here this evening from Buctouche, a small village on the Gulf of St. Lawrence, shore of New Brunswick, tells a startling and sensational story, calculated to make the blood boil in every American citizen. It is to the effect that a fishing schooner belonging to the United States has been sunk by a shot from one of the Canadian cruisers and that all on board were lost. This statement appears incredible but the reliability of the person who communicates it, and who gives it only for what it is worth, can be depended upon. This gentleman has been spending some time in Buctouche, and is well acquainted with the inhabitants, but has no interest whatever in fishery matters, and can have no possible reason for repeating a story which he knows to be false.

He states that one night about eight days ago, while sleeping in a house in the village, he and his wife were awakened by two loud reports, but heard nothing further, and, concluding that the noise was merely peals of thunder, went to sleep again. In the morning they were told that they had heard the reports of two cannon shots, which were fired from a cruiser in pursuit of an American fishing schooner. The second shot struck one of the schooner's masts, which fell with the sails and turned the schooner completely over on her side, when she filled and sank immediately. Every man on board went down, not being given a minute's time to launch a boat.

The affair, it is affirmed, was witnessed by two Buctouche fishermen, who were off the shore in a row boat, and who carried the news home, but were not seen by the correspondent's informant. After seeing the terrible result of her shot, the cruiser was put to sea and was soon lost in the night.

There was no storm during the night, so that the noise heard on shore could not have been caused by thunder. The reports were heard by nearly everybody in the village, who at the moment also attributed them to thunder.

The gentleman relating this terrible affair says he understands that an effort is being made to keep it quiet, but the whole may possibly be without foundation. There is no doubt however, about reports being heard and also that there was no storm. The object of the authorities in suppressing news of such a kind for as long a time as possible can readily be understood, but if it is true the facts must come out, as it would surely be impossible to keep every man on board the cruiser from telling something of the story as soon as he reached port. If it transpires that an American vessel and her crew have been sunk in this manner very grave complications will ensue. The number of lives lost would probably be from 12 to 15, possibly two or three more.

Story Lacks Confirmation.

OTTAWA, Aug. 15. The Department of Fisheries have no information as to the alleged sinking of an American fishing schooner with the loss of the entire crew off Buctouche, N. B., and the officials express entire disbelief in the report.

Discredited at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. The Department of State has no confirmation of the story concerning the sinking of the American fishing vessel by the Canadian cruiser, and the report is discredited.

No Confirmation of the Report at Halifax.

HALIFAX Aug. 15. There is no confirmation here of the report that a Canadian cruiser fired on and sunk an American fisherman off Buctouche, causing the loss of all on board. Many telegrams of inquiry have been sent to Buctouche and vicinity, but no information has been elicited.

How the Story was Started.

It has been learned positively that reports of a gun were heard off Buctouche Harbor some days ago, between 8 and 9 in the morning. The story goes that a man came to the village from the shore and reported that an unknown Dominion fishery cruiser had dismantled and sunk an American fisherman, the vessel going down with every soul on board. The whole story is discredited. It was also rumored that there was another U. S. fisherman in the vicinity at the time and after one sank the cruiser gave chase to the other.

THE CHATSWORTH DISASTER.

The Claims Probably to be Promptly Settled.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 15. It is said on good authority that the Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad, will try to raise money to pay all claims resulting from the late accident and it is probable that the whole matter will be settled at once without litigation.

A BIG FORGERY.

Borrowing on Forged Paper.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13. Emil Schoenberg, for some time supposed to be a partner of John F. Betz, the millionaire brewer, is missing. The statement is made that he is a forger to a large amount. When the German brewery was projected Schoenberg took $175,000 worth of stock. He borrowed the money from several banks, giving as security a variety of paper. It has since transpired that the signatures and endorsements upon some of the papers are forgeries. The names of Betz and S. K. Nestor, of Geneva, were attached without consent. The banks that made the first advance are also victims of forged paper found in several other banks. Brewer Yungling, of New York, E. F. Poulterer, and David W. Stewart are among those Schoenberg fleeced. Now and then a new creditor turns up, and there may be others. Schoenberg's indebtedness is about $300,000.

Betz's loss is $80,000, and besides he is liable for $70,000 with a large incompleted theatre on his hands towards which Schoenberg is supposed to have contributed largely but actually nothing. Nestor is out about $90,000. Stewart about $13,000, Poulterer, $7,000, Brewer Yungling about $8,000. The available assets are Schoenberg's house and negotiable collateral. The margin between his assets and liabilities will be $175,000.

FOREIGN NEWS.

A Heavy Blow to the Conservatives.

LONDON, Aug. 15. The result of the Norwich election is a crushing blow to the Conservatives and dissidents, who were confident that they would retain the seat. At the clubs the news was received with consternation. Home Rule clubs and centers are correspondingly elated. A week ago the Standard (Conservative) said the issue would be a trial of strength and under peculiarly significant circumstances. It pointed out that though Brunner was a large local employer his opponent was a member of an old Cheshire family that had been seated in the county for centuries.

The water in the river has fallen about five inches since last Saturday when it was at the highest point for some time, owing to the recent rain. It will make a heavy rear for the drives. The West Branch drive was at Five Islands yesterday morning, and coming along smoothly and rapidly. Some of the logs are already in the boom and rafting will be begun to-morrow. A lively runaway occurred on Exchange street yesterday afternoon soon after one o'clock. A horse, attached to a hayrack, became frightened and started from the foot of the street running up Exchange and State streets to Pearl where he was finally captured. There were many teams in the streets at the time but luckily none of them were struck by the runaway and no damage was done.

The notice that recently appeared in many of the papers of the State, that a pension had been granted the widow of Rev. Ebenezer Allen, a soldier of the war of 1812, late of Dixmont, must be and is incorrect, as he left no widow; besides, it does a great injustice to the estimable and very worthy lady, who kindly, and in a Christian spirit, without hope of reward, cared for the good man and lonely old patriot in his last sickness.

THE SHIPPING OF ICE. The ice in the different ice houses along the Penobscot river will be pretty well cleared out by the end of this season and comparatively little will be carried over until next year. The ice crop has been a fairly good one and most of it will be sold. The Katahdin Ice Company has about 2,000 tons left in the houses, and that will be shipped this week. The Penobscot River Company has about 5,000 tons remaining, and T. W. Ayer & Co., about the same quantity. The most of this will probably be shipped before the river closes.

The two storehouses owned by C. H. Bartlett, Esq., and situated on his wharf, are to be made into one and an additional story will be built, making the building two and a half stories high and 100 feet in length. Mr. G. G. An opportunity is thus afforded to ascertain from what points, especially mountain summits, Katahdin is visible. Those who identify it are requested to report to the Appalachian Mountain Club, 9 Park street, Boston, the date and time of day when it is seen, the place of observation, and the compass direction. Papers throughout Maine are requested to copy this notice.

Gen Beal will probably go on to Philadelphia, soon, to make preliminary arrangements here, as Adjt. Gen. Gallagher is not able to go, at present, on account of the impending contract for uniforms for the militia. Adjt. Gen. Gallagher said, Friday, that he expected that about twenty men from each company in Maine would be detailed to make the trip to Philadelphia including the officers of the companies.

The visiting post will remain in this city until Thursday noon and will then take the train for their home. The programme for the entertainment of the post on Thursday forenoon has not been fully arranged, but the visitors will be shown every attention and be made to enjoy their visit.

GRAND ARMY DAY AT THE STATE FAIR. Department Commander Richard K. Gatley, of Portland, with Judge George A. Wilson, of South Paris; Assistant Adjutant General E. C. Milliken, of Portland; C. W. Hadlock, of Portland, of the council of administration, and E. P. Hill, department inspector, were in Lewiston, Friday, by appointment of the State Fair trustees, to talk over the feasibility of making one of the days of the State Fair a Grand Army day. The committee met the trustees at about 11 o'clock, and discussed the matter with them. The trustees further considered the matter in the afternoon, and Wednesday, September 7th, was settled as the Grand Army day. The day will be devoted to reunions, etc., not to interfere in any way with the general programme of the State Fair. In the evening on the grounds, if pleasant, the Grand Army will hold a campfire, with speeches, song, story, stereopticon exhibit and other novel and interesting features.

WORCESTER EXCURSION PARTY. The Worcester excursion party, under the management of the Worcester Excursion Car Company, of Worcester, Mass., and in charge of Mr. J. W. Gore, arrived in this city yesterday on its way to Bar Harbor, and stopped at the Bangor House over night. The members of the party are: Mr. and Mr. J. M. Bassett, Mr. A. J. Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ainsworth, Mrs. Edwin R. Morse and child, Mr. Frank W. Blair, Mr. W. B. Scofield, Miss Nella Marble, Miss Ollie Marble, of Worcester, and Mr. Edmund M. Baker, of Springfield. The party travels in one of the elegant palace cars of the Worcester Excursion Car Company, which is handsomely fitted up, and has a fine dining service. This morning the party leaves for Bar Harbor, spending to-day and to-morrow at that resort, passing through this city Wednesday evening, and visiting Augusta, Portland, Old Orchard, Rochester and Nashua, N.H., on the way back, arriving in Worcester Saturday afternoon. The trip is a pleasant and well arranged one and will undoubtedly be greatly enjoyed by the members of the party.

IMPROVEMENTS ABOUT THE STREETS. Street Commissioner Brackett, has a crew of men at work on State street hill making improvements in the sidewalk and gutter on the left hand side. The concrete walk on this side was the first walk of this material constructed in this city and was laid twenty years ago as an experiment, many doubting that it would give satisfaction. The granite along the edge of the sidewalk has since become out of place, and the grass has grown up on the banking making an ugly appearance. The old paving stones in the gutter have been taken up, and new ones are being put in their place on a raised surface of the ground. When this is completed, that part of the banking between the gutter and sidewalk will be concreted, giving the water a better chance to run off, and greatly improving the appearance of the sidewalk and street. The city workmen will soon be at work rebuilding First street and it will be put in first class condition. Second street will be graded in a short time, from Cedar to Union, and the extension of Second street from Cedar to Warren will be built. Hammond street is being improved by a coat of gravel. Many of the suburban streets and roads have lately been given added usefulness by the improvements made upon them by the city crews of workmen.

THE NEW MILITARY COMPANY. Young men desirous of becoming members of the new company being organized to take the place of the recently disbanded Jameson Guards, are reminded of the meeting to be held to-night at the armory in Acadian Hall Mercantile Square, at which time all those who have signed the paper, as well as those desirous of doing so, are invited to be present for the purpose of signing the enlistment papers. Those who have signed already are just the class of men to make such a company as will be a credit to our city, and of which any young man should be proud to be a member, and it is hoped that enough will be present to start out in the new organization with full ranks. It is also important that the enlistment papers should be signed at once in order to have measurements taken for the new and handsome uniforms which the State is about to furnish to the militia.

SALE OF HORSES. There was a very large crowd at the sale of horses at Maplewood yesterday, many coming in from the surrounding towns either to buy or to witness the proceedings. Over a thousand people must have been on the grounds, and most of them good judges of horse flesh. There were fifty horses in the herd to be sold and all of them were disposed of during the day to purchasers who think they have good bargains. The animals were driven from one enclosure to another as they were put up at auction, and did some lively jumping and kicking while this was being done. All of the horses brought good prices and many of them appeared to be sound, sturdy animals. They are not wild, but have been reared mostly in Kentucky, and although they have been bridled have never been broken. In the afternoon the horses were lassoed by the cow boys, the performance being an interesting one to the spectators, and delivered to their owners. A great deal of amusement was created last evening among lookers on by the efforts of the owners to get their purchases to their stables.

BASE BALL.

An excellent, though small company of excursionists, numbering perhaps, two hundred, went down to Rockland yesterday on Steamer Katahdin, to witness the base ball tournament. Accessions were made at various landings on the river, and at Belfast a large number came on board and joined the party. The day was a delightful one and the sail down the river, which was enlivened by music by the Bangor Band, was one of perfect enjoyment. Arriving at Rockland about one o'clock, the Bangor and Belfast nines, consolidated, marched to the base ball grounds to the music of the band, and a large attendance witnessed the game. The arrangement, made before this disbanding of the Rocklands, was to have the three nines play an exhibition game, but owing to the disbanding and the inability to procure a nine to take their place, a regular league game, between the Bangors and Belfasts, was played.

The game, however, was not of such a character as to be highly interesting to the spectators or satisfactory to the friends of the Bangor nine, which suffered heavily through the mistake of putting a new and untried battery on the diamond, the result of which was to give the Belfasts seven runs in the first two innings. Goodwin and Leahy were then substituted but although Goodwin pitched a fine game and was well supported by Leahy, it was too late to retrieve the errors which had been made. Other mistakes, which became apparent to the management as well as to others, added to the difficulties under which the Bangors labored, and the result, as shown by the score below, was a victory for the Belfasts by a score of 11 to 7. At the close of the game the party at once boarded the steamer for the return home, leaving Rockland at about five o'clock and arriving here a little past ten. Following is the score:

Grange Lectures.

The gathering of the Patrons of Husbandry at Emery Hall, Bucksport, yesterday, was large and enthusiastic. The meeting was called to order at 2 P. M. by Worthy Master Norton, of Hancock County Grange, under whose auspices the meeting was held. Ex-Governor Roole, Worthy Master of the State Grange was introduced and made a short, eloquent and congratulatory speech in regard to the prosperity of the order and the noble work it had already accomplished. Mr. Roble in closing introduced Worthy Lecturer Whitehead, of New Jersey, complimenting him highly for his valuable services in forwarding the grange work in this State.

Mr. Whitehead occupied about two hours. His address, as a whole, was instructive, humorous and eloquent. He was honored with an unusually intelligent audience, fully capable of appreciating all the good things suggested and overlooking whatever did not meet their approbation. There are but few speakers who can better command the attention of an audience.

A secret session was held in the evening. At six o'clock all were invited to the dining hall, where the members of the Hancock County Grange had prepared an excellent and appetizing supper.

To-day a meeting will be held at Bussell's Grove, Etna, commencing at 10 o'clock A. M. The forenoon meeting will be for Patrons only. At 2 P. M. a public meeting will be held, and the same speakers will be present.

Hughes' Point.

A correspondent writes: For those that desire to leave the heat and dust of our city for a few weeks for quiet rest and comfort, I have yet to learn of a more desirable place than this. It seems to be just far enough if one owns a cottage or can procure one, as the steamer reaches here coming from Bangor or Bar Harbor at about one o'clock, so the visitors will find a hot dinner in waiting for them. It may well be called the half way place. The lookout from this place is attractive in all directions, and it is more free from fog than further down the bay, and not only the air but the drinking water is excellent. Food of all descriptions is readily obtained here and at prices as low or lower than at Bangor. The fifteen or twenty cottages are pleasantly located and are all occupied at present but one or two, while quite a number of persons from our city are boarding with families here. We cannot boast of costly turnouts or yachts, but have plenty of boats and land carriages and the Cimbria to take us one way or the other every day. As I have been familiar with most of the places in Penobscot Bay for many years I prefer Hughes' Point.

SUICIDE AT BUCKSPORT.

Arthur Mooney Shoots Himself with a Musket.

About seven o'clock yesterday morning the household of which Arthur Mooney, of Bucksport, is a member, was startled by hearing a shot, which evidently proceeded from his room, and upon investigation he was found dead in his room with his head nearly blown off. He had taken an army musket, loaded it heavily with buckshot, and, having seated himself upon a lounge, placing the end of the musket under his left jaw, had pressed the trigger with his foot sending the charge into his head, killing him instantly. The deceased had been something of an invalid for a number of years, a fall that he received in Boston having a great deal to do with his ill health, and of late had been very despondent. His friends had closely watched him lately fearing the occurrence which finally took place. He was a man about forty-one years of age and before his ill health had been very active. He leaves a daughter about fifteen years of age, his wife having died a few years ago. A father and mother, with whom he had been living, several sisters and brothers, are left to mourn his loss.

DYSPEPSIA

Causes its victims to be miserable, hopeless, confused and depressed in mind, very irritable, languid, and drowsy. It is a disease which does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy to throw off the causes and tone up the digestive organs till they perform their duties willingly. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven just the required remedy in hundreds of cases.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia, from which I have suffered two years. I tried many other medicines, but none proved so satisfactory as Hood's Sarsaparilla." THOMAS COOK, Brush Electric Light Co., New York City.

Sick Headache

"For the past two years I have been afflicted with severe headaches and dyspepsia. I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and have found great relief. I cheerfully recommend it to all." MRS. E. F. ANNABLE, New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. Mary C. Smith, Cambridgeport, Mass., was a sufferer from dyspepsia and sick headache. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla and found it the best remedy she ever used.

The Fashions.

[From the New York Evening Post.]

Pretty church and afternoon dresses are made of white nuns' veiling, with kilted skirt bordered with five or seven rows of picot-edged watered ribbon. There is a full tunic above, simply finished with a broad hem and looped very high on each side. The bodice has a Fedora vest of the veiling, banded across with moire ribbon, with revers made of watered silk set each side of the vest. The back portion of the tunic is amply draped, and in some cases there is a wide moire sash, and in others a ribbon belt only, with swinging loops and ends falling at the left side, close to the back drapery.

The coffee-colored and pale terra cotta Venetian laces used the present season to decorate foulards, silk, muslins and surahs will be employed the coming season as a garniture for dinner and visiting dresses of silk, velvet and plush. Some of the most elaborate patterns have the designs outlined in gold threads, and for entire dresses are sets of lace, which include four yards of flouncing, graceful lace berthas, sleeves, and fraise for the neck.

Some of the elaborate summer toilets are of gold-embroidered net in black or colors. The net entirely veils an underdress which is of black, lilac, gray, or laurel green, or pale terra cotta. The corsage and sleeves have the net not laid flat on the lining, but full and pleated, and unattached except at the top and bottom.

Corsages crossing to one side and opening on a small pleated guimpe and jacket-corsage are still in the majority, but, as has been said in the case of pleated skirts, with modifications and touches of novelty in the details. There are also corselets worn with house dresses, very high, and rounded on the chest, and completed above by a pleated guimpe of surah or of embroidered tulle, laid upon foulard.

More now than at any previous time, the style of a dress is made to depend on the material of which it is composed. The rich silken stuffs with velvet stripes and gay Pompadour garlands, and the handsome failles and other soft corded silks, are employed for straight skirts that are almost destitute of drapery or looping. On the other hand, the Bengalines, foulards, India tissues, and kindred soft silks demand the folds and loopings for which the richer silks are not adapted.

For dressy gowns are silk passementerie yokes of various patterns, with or without jet or colored beads. One very pretty and novel toilet lately worn was made of nuns' gray silk, with a yoke, standing collar, cuffs, and an ornament for holding the pleats of the corsage at the waist, all these trimmings made in imitation of chain armor. These ornaments were not heavy, as might be supposed, but dainty and comparatively light, and harmonizing perfectly with the rare shade of the silk.

Very light and elegant are some of the mid-summer bonnets made of silk gauze in delicate tints, embroidered in pale shaded silks. The gauze is made into narrow bands scalloped in the silk at their lower edges, and with these bands crumpled together, according to the unwritten laws of Parisian taste, the most charming little peek-a-boo and fish-wife poke bonnets are made, these worn en suite with toilets of lace, India muslin, Pompadour striped silk, or crepe lisse.

Bonnets of heliotrope, emerald green, garnet, jet, pearl, and olive bead-work are still among the most popular and fashionable head-coverings, and there is an indication that these glittering bonnets will continue their reign the autumn through, as new models are appearing in Paris, made of irridescent beads, a mingled cashmere colorings and effects, and also of one kind of bead alone in silver, plomb, clair de lune, bronze, gold, and amber. The new shapes in which they will appear and the novel effects produced by the beadwork will secure them a place among the novelties of the coming season.

A charming tint of blue, neither light nor dark, called Italian sky, has appeared in fine plain armures, camel's hair, and limousines, and is introduced in plain and figured materials in combination with fawn, russet, ecru, bronze, and Japanese red. A famous man milliner has just completed a telling gown of this new color, adorning it with a delicate embroidery of gold toned down with a cunning admixture of bronze. There is an odd velvet half corsage, the immediate fronts of which run to the collar. Beyond this it is cut away, giving it the appearance of a half-low bodice over a second one of the blue faille. The antique sleeves show an odd mixture of the silk, the velvet, and the rich bronze brocatelle. The gown was ordered for a famous star actress, who will appear later in a celebrated play in this city.

For a neat, cool traveling dress there is nothing better or more durable and suitable than one of soft gray alpacca; it looks cooler, is cooler, and needs less care and brushing to keep it in condition than a gown of any other sort. It is a very good plan to have two bodices made to the dress—one as neat and trim as possible for the journey, the second more elaborate, to change with at the hotel where one may halt for dinner or lunch. There may be loose fronts and white and colored waistcoats to render it dressy enough for promenade wear at other times. With ordinary use, the skirts will answer for either occasion. A good shaking will remove the dust and thus render the silky surface quite fresh to fittingly accompany the second bodice with its smart waistcoat and natty ribbon tie at the throat. These ribbon ties are universally worn, and look well when necks are round and youthful, but it is observed that many women follow the fashion who would better avoid it.

White is worn in all fabrics and by people of all ages, from the infant in arms to the silver-haired mothers in Israel. Pearl and snow-white gowns are worn again without prejudice to cream-white in silk, wool, and cotton. The pure white and cream textiles are universally popular, from the simplest Isle of Wight serge and veiling to the most expansive India cashmeres. Very elegant toilets worn at Saratoga this season have been made of ivory or cream-white crape, crepe lisse, and crepe de chine; these made in classic style, with wonderfully graceful drapings, the gowns demi-train, and the floral garnitures of white water-lilies or white rose garlands and foliage. Combination toilets of white India muslin, exquisitely embroidered, and plain white crepe de chine have also appeared among the rich and rare toilets, and also superb lace dresses over pale gold princesse slips, with low silk under bodices and Pompadour corsages above of the lace, draped with scarfs of the same caught on the shoulders with small clasps of gold set with pearls and diamonds. Other beautiful dresses are made of white corded silk, trimmed with lace and fine gold galloon, with plastrons of gold-brocaded gauze.

A Philadelphia collector has adopted an ingenious device for bringing delinquent debtors to terms. He makes his visits to them in a carriage on which is painted in bold letters, "Installment Collector of Unpaid Bills." The Press says he stopped the other day at an up town house and rang the bell. The woman who came to the door shook her head, indicating that she was not prepared to settle her bill. "Well," said she, "I'll have to drive around again." Woman-like she looked after him as he was departing, and her eyes fell on the carriage with its give-away inscription. Her face paled with indignation, and she could hardly suppress her wrath as she beckoned to the collector to come back. He returned, and she evidently settled her account, for he erased something from a small book he held in his hand, and an expression of contentment played over his face as he jumped into his carriage and drove off. The house door closed with a bang.

Twelve years ago I was a Hudson River pilot, and contracted malaria—the first real illness I ever had; and it held me in its grip for six years. Many times have I stood at the wheel with my overcoat buttoned to the chin, shivering in the hot summer sun. For six years I took quinine in large doses, with no lasting good result, although there was plenty of its bad. In 1887 I saw an advertisement of Kaskine, the new quinine. "That's what I need," I said, "anything but the old quinine, which, with malaria to help it, had nearly used me up." After some weeks' use of Kaskine it cured me thoroughly, made me well, and I have never had a particle of malaria since.
WILLIAM TEED,
133 East 124th Street, New York.

Seven years ago I had an attack of bilious remittent fever, which ran into intermittent malarial. I tried all the known remedies, such as arsenic, mercury and quinine. The latter was administered to me in heavy and continued doses. Malaria brought on nervous prostration and dyspepsia, from which I suffered everything. Last winter I heard of Kaskine and began using it. A few bottles of the wonderful drug cured me. Malaria and dyspepsia disappeared, and as you have seen a June day brighter for the summer storm that had passed across the sky, so the cloud left my life and my health became steady and strong.
MRS. F. LAWSON,
141 Bergen St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I contracted malaria in the Michigan Lake district, and for eight years suffered from a chronic type of intermittent malarial fever with all its distressing symptoms. Used all the leading remedies, including quinine, under the best medical advice, but received no radical benefit. In the summer of 1886 I first tried Kaskine, the new quinine, and it cured me. It was a true scientific healing, and results so real cannot be disputed."
DAY. D. J. NORTON, State St., Albany, N. Y.

I live in a malarious neighborhood, and though a strong man, contracted dumb ague in its worst form about two years ago. The poison went all through and nothing was able to touch it. I often took thirty grains of quinine at a dose. It broke up my sleep, made me nearly wild, and so weak. In 1886 I ran down from 175 pounds to 97, and was a mere bundle of bones. My doctor gave me up. He said "I might pour pounds of quinine down your throat and it wouldn't help you." I then gave up quinine and concluded to take my chances. I heard of Kaskine, and without the least faith began using it. In one week I was better, began to sleep, have appetite and gain strength. In a month I was back at my work. Never had a day's sickness since. Malaria was killed in my system. I am an astonishment to myself and friends. I Kaskine didn't do this I don't know what did.
FREDERICK A. MILLER,
630 East 157th Street, New York.

P. S.—For the absolute truth of the above statement, I refer to the following gentlemen, who are personally acquainted with the facts: Mr. Alexander Weir, 630 156th St.; Mr. George Stenman, 158th street and Courtlandt avenue; Mr. A. Moebus, 158th street and Courtlandt avenue; Mr. P. F. Vaupel, 158th street and Courtlandt avenue; Mr. John Luny, 630 East 158th street; Mr. John Renshaw, 124 126th street, and many others. I will also reply to letters of inquiry.

"In its power to eradicate malaria from the system, Kaskine is a medicinal revelation. Mine was about as bad a case of this disorder as could be, and yet Kaskine thoroughly cured me after I had been dosed to no purpose with almost every drug in the Pharmacopeia."
J. D. HIRD, B. A.,
Assistant Chemist Maryland Agricultural College.
